Hazard Kiwanis Club Presents Check for $555.00 For Bookmobile

Mrs. Lorraine Reynolds and Mrs. Susie Brashear, who represent the Bobby Davis Library Bookmobile, were presented a check for $555.00 from the Hazard Kiwanis Club, at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Tuesday evening, April 21.

The funds were the Kiwanis' share of the Indoor Circus held in Hazard Friday, April 3, after various expenses such as advertising, etc., had been deducted.

Mrs. Reynolds, Librarian, gave a history of the Bobby Davis Library and an account of its purpose and activities. Mrs. Brashear is Secretary-Treasurer of the organization, as well as an employee of Hazard City Hall.

According to Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. L. O. Davis financed the building of the library in memory of his son, Bobby Davis, who was killed in World War II, and in memory of all veterans who "thus lost their lives."

"The library books and etc. have been furnished by various organizations and good citizens of Hazard, Perry County, including the expense of running it. Some of the expenses include: Insurance on the bookmobile driver, stationery, salaries for at least two people, the librarian and the driver." She said the community is much indebted to Mrs. Grey, a wealthy lady from Frankfort who assists financially. "According to law, the state cannot do anything financially until the Fiscal Court first assists financially, before the beginning of a new fiscal year. Remember, this is for our children!" she concluded.

After Mrs. Reynolds' address, Paul Keen, past president, delegated by President Don Ward, presented the library with the check.

The Kiwanis members also discussed the annual broom sale which is now in progress. It will continue until at least the next meeting to be held tomorrow (Tuesday) at 7 p. m., when members will report their sales and turn in their cash collected. The same captains as last year will have charge of sales on the same streets.

Pres. Johnson Visits Scene of Poverty

Last Friday, a day that started off with a somewhat cloudy overcast but later changing to brilliant sunshine, provided a perfect setting for any kind of gathering, this aided by delightful colors of dogwoods, redbuds, apple trees and dozens of other beautiful plants, trees and shrubs, it seemed an ideal time for visitors—even for the President of the United States.

The first scheduled visit of the President and his party was at Inez, county seat of Martin County. A sign near the city limits read—population 670. At 12:00 o'clock noon a small crowd had assembled in front of the courthouse. There was a warm feeling of friendship and neighborliness among those that gathered and from listening to the conversations, everyone seemed delighted and thrilled that the President and First Lady would pay the town a visit.

After an hour or so of waiting someone brought a message from the courthouse which stated that the President had been delayed and would not arrive at 2:00 o'clock as scheduled, but 4:00 o'clock instead. During the next few hours the crowd swelled to great numbers. Besides the town's 670 there must have been seven or eight thousand more. One old timer remarked, "I didn't know there were so many people in Martin County"; another stated: "This will be the first time a President of the United States has ever visited Eastern Kentucky"; and another said, "These children will remember this day as long as they live". And thus ran much of the citizen's conversation, ranging from politics, farming, gardening, mining, lumbering, and general business conditions.

Inez is one of the more remote county seat towns in eastern Ky., but we think it is not nearly as poverty-stricken as many of the other towns and villages.

For this one particular day at least, there was no sign of poverty, the hundreds of school students looked well fed and well clad, the band was dressed well and the majorettes were among the prettiest. The traffic seemed unusually heavy with huge trucks hauling saw logs, lumber, soft drinks, bread, along with usual traffic on any day in typical mountain towns.

One thing we noticed in particular, the street or road that runs through town was neat and clean and the houses and lawns looked neat and clean, there were few eye-sores to be observed. We wondered if the President's announced visit may have aided in putting the dress-up appearance—we also think visits like this would be for clean-up drives in any other of our mountain towns.

Inez citizens are no different from citizens in any other of our mountains, there is the occasional mule and sled, the selling of cabbage and tomato plants in front of the court house, the hot dog and sandwich and soft drink business places. For this one day at least businesses were not idle, and the crowd never seemed to tire of waiting for the President even though the hour of 4:00 o'clock had arrived. But about the hour of 5:00 helicopters began to make their appearance and it was not long till President Lyndon B. Johnson and his charming wife, Lady Bird, along with other dignitaries, came motor-ing through town. Hundreds of cardboard banners read:

Welcome President Johnson; Welcome Lady Bird; and dozens of similar greetings.

The President and his party did not stop on arrival but motored some three or four miles beyond to visit personally some of the less fortunate families. After a few minutes, however, the party returned back to town. The motorcade stopped and Johnson shook hands with as many people as possible but the crowd became so excited, all wanting to shake hands with him, many trying to get pictures, that he returned to the airport where the 6 helicopters took him and his party over to Paintsville, the County Seat of Johnson County. There, as in Inez, the town had put on its best appearance for the arrival of the Presidential Party—the streets were neat and clean, decorated with flags on each side and he gaily and excitement seemed tremendous.

At 7:00 o'clock a huge throng gathered in front of the new courthouse. We would estimate the gathering at 20 to 25 thousand. Congressman Perkins introduced the President who made a short speech. He said he came there at the invitation of Mr. Perkins. His main theme was "War On Poverty". He said he had known something about poverty himself, he was raised a poor boy, he had worked in his youth on many jobs from shoe shine boy to highway laborer at $1 per day. Speaking of poverty he said, "We will never be satisfied until every man who wants to work has a job, and every family has a home." He introduced Governor Breathitt who also gave brief remarks and introduced Mrs. Johnson (Lady Bird) who also spoke briefly. She thanked the great crowd for their attendance and asked their help in aiding the President in the work he is trying to do. "This has been a delightful day for us," she said, "and one that we shall long remember."

The President stated that his ancestry came from eastern Kentucky. His father once told him, "there are only two ways to go—you can go up in this world or—Go to Texas. So some of them went to Texas, and I suppose the rest remained here and had Johnson County named for them."

Local Beverage Plant Plans Modernization

The East Kentucky Beverage Company, Inc., of Hazard and Pikeville has received a building permit for the remodeling, expansion and modernization of its plant and garage building in the Walkertown section of Hazard, according to Claude Isaac, Jr., manager of the local operation.

Isaacs stated that architects plans are in preparation for a newly designed front for the building, to consist of brick and aluminum, and for a 5000 square foot addition in the rear to take care of storage and repair of the company's growing fleet of trucks which is required to take care of distribution of Pepsi-Cola, Seven-Up and Orange Crush in the five counties which are serviced from the local facility. The side walls of the present building will be replaced with concrete block and the addition in the rear will be of concrete block with a steel roof.

"Although both our Hazard and Pikeville plants suffered losses in the 1957 and 1963 floods, our company feels confidence in the future of Hazard, Perry County, and Eastern Kentucky," Isaacs stated, "and we are further confident that flood control will become a reality."

Approximately $30,000 will be spent in the expansion and modernization and will provide the company with one of the most modern, efficient bottling facilities in Eastern Kentucky. Isaacs stated that work would get under way as soon as architects plans were completed and weather permitted.

Fighting The Moth

It's that time again—time to store away your winter fashions. Knits were the big trend this year and early Paris fashion reviews for Fall and Winter '64 predict knits will be even greater next year, so you'll want to take extra care when you pack yours away for the warm months ahead.

Here are a few simple preventive measures to take when storing your knit suits, dresses and separates, plus all other winter garments, blankets and accessories.

First dry clean or wash all things that need it. Air and brush well all others. Be sure you brush out pockets, seams and other hidden places that would be sure breeding places for moth eggs. Next, place articles in garment bags, chests and other containers that can be sealed tightly. (Remember it's best to have knits lying flat during storage time rather than hanging on hangers—they are liable to stretch or lose their shape.) Last, and very important, use one or more of various DI-CHLORICIDE products. If you prefer nuggets or crystals, sprinkle them on the floor and shelves of your closet or bag, or if you wish to store your belongings in chests, sprinkle nuggets or crystals on the bottom of the drawers and then some more over the garments. You may prefer push-buttons to the "sprinkler system." In that case the DI-CHLORICIDE aerosol is perfect for you. Just spray your clothes well and pack them away. For added protection, place one of the DI-CHLORICIDE moth cakes along with your garments in their storage place.

Serve Citrus For A Shapely Spring

If you're on a diet this spring, are the foods you're relying on to take off poundage giving you plenty of good nutrition? One of the tastiest solutions to the question of what to have for a light luncheon or dinner is a luscious citrus salad. Plump, juicy grapefruit and the sweet, seedless Valencia oranges from Florida make a refreshing and healthful salad that's low in calories. Citrus, the best natural source of vitamin C, builds resistance to spring sniffles while it helps pare off pounds. Serve big salad platters like this often, adding cottage cheese and a low-calorie citrus dressing to your taste. Teamed with spring vegetables—tender scallions, baby carrot strips, watercress, endive and other greens—there's nothing more delightful.

6 Florida Valencia oranges 4 Florida grapefruit
Chill fruit before preparing. To peel grapefruit and oranges, cut slices from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Then cut slices from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round, spiral fashion. To peel grapefruit, remove any remaining white membrane. To section grapefruit, cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section over bowl to retain juices from fruit. Slice peeled oranges crosswise 1/4 inch thick. Arrange on fruit platter using salad greens if desired.
YIELD: 8 servings.

Low-Calorie Citrus Dressing
1/2 cup Florida Valencia oranges 1/4 cup lime or lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon non-caloric liquid sweetener
1/2 cup Florida Valencia oranges 2 egg yolks, beaten
Combine flour, salt and dry mustard in top of double boiler. Gradually stir in orange and lime juice, liquid sweetener and beaten egg yolks. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool. YIELD: 1 1/2 cups.
1 tablespoon of dressing contains about 16 calories.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

More Than 100 4-H Members Take Part In Program at Rally

Paul Keen — County Agricultural Agent

Congratulations to the 4-H leaders and members for the excellent 4-H Rally held in Hazard last Friday. More than 100 4-H members gave a speech or demonstration. A more complete report is shown elsewhere.

Early Blight Fungus Disease Will Cut Tomato Crop Yields:

It's a waste of time for gardeners to attempt to grow tomatoes unless chemicals are used to control early blight and other leaf diseases.

Start a spray schedule when the tomato plants flower and begin to set fruit. Continue the schedules at 7 to 10 day intervals as long as the crops need protection. This protection need may be 6 to 12 spray applications, depending on the weather. Some of the later applications may be omitted if dry, hot weather prevails.

MATERIALS: Maneb as main ingredients, three level tablespoons per gallon of water; Zineb as main ingredient, same rate; or Captain as main ingredient, same rate. One gallon of spray will give adequate coverage on a row 100 feet long when the plants are almost grown.

Early blight first appears as circular to angular brown to black dead spots, from pinpoint to pinhead in size. Stems may also show dark sunken spots. If spots are numerous, the leaves wither and drop. Fruits develop sunken dead spots which may eventually involve most of the fruit.

Spray Schedule Needed for Grapes:
A spray schedule should be started this month to control black rot of grapes. Use materials containing Ferbam or Captain in the sprays. Put two tablespoonsful of the material in a gallon of water and spray grape plantings when the new growth is an inch long, when first blooms open, when blooming is finished, and finally when grapes are the size of a small pea.

Black rot shows up on the leaf as a definite dead spot which is at first circular and red in color. On shoots the dead areas are purple to black colored. On the fruit, the dead areas usually develop after the fruits are half grown, showing small white areas surrounded by a ring of rapidly widening brown. Eventually the fruits shrink and become almost mummified.

Details of control of this and other diseases of grapes are in Extension Circular 521-A, Entitled "Sprays for Home Fruit Plantings." These are available at County Agent's Offices. Spraying after the disease is noticed will not be helpful.

A Letter From AUNT MAGGIE

Box 495,
Hazard, Kentucky

Dear Jenny:

I'm glad your evening turned out so well. Most young people enjoy doing things together and an old fashioned taffy pull is just the thing. I remember many good times such as that when I was young.

Yes, Jenny, it is a wonderful thing to pray and have that prayer answered. When we truly seek God's guidance, He never fails us. You were sincere about wanting to do the Lord's will where dancing was concerned and He knew it, so there was no doubt that He would answer.

He put the idea of a taffy pull in your mind, and inviting the other couples. Perhaps you were dubious about asking the others, and I know you were surprised to find out they really didn't care about dancing so much as having nothing to do. Now you won't mind suggesting other things.

There's a wonderful scripture found in Jeremiah 29:12, 13.

"Then shall ye call upon me, and ye shall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you."

And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart." That last phrase is the key to answered prayer: "when ye shall search for me with all your heart." Anyone who has ever sought Jesus with all their heart has never failed to find Him.

Ever since I gave myself completely to Jesus a long time ago, He has been the guiding force of my life and of my family and He has yet to fail me one time.

Several times when we have been in need of another house in which to live, I've just turned the matter over to Him with a prayer something like this:

"Dear Lord, You know our situation. You know where there is a house that is just the right size for us and in the location that would suit us and fit our finances. Now please help us to find this house. In Jesus Name, Amen."

I've always been amazed at how the Lord answers our prayers. One time, a couple of days after I'd prayed and before we had had a chance to look at empty houses, a lady called me on the phone and said:

"I heard you were looking for a house. I am planning to move this weekend and have no one to rent my house yet. Would you be interested in looking at it?" We went and looked. As she moved out we moved in and loved the place all the time we were there.

There is nothing in this world, Jenny, as satisfying as being right with God. Many people never have this satisfaction because they think they have to do something besides believe in Jesus for the forgiveness of sins. The Bible plainly tells us in Acts 16:31, "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved, and thy house."

I'm glad you have learned this while you are still young and have a whole lifetime of fellowship with Him ahead of you.

Love,
Aunt Maggie

Pearl Harbor Survivors To Meet

The military survivors of the attack on Pearl Harbor of December 7, 1941 are now attempting to locate as many living survivors as possible in order to band together and form chapters in as many cities and states across the country as is possible. We believe that some 40,000 survivors may still be alive today and would join with us if they knew that we are forming a National Association of Survivors. If you are a military survivor who was stationed on the Island of Oahu, or serving aboard ship within three miles of Oahu, or if you might know of a survivor from this Japanese attack of December 7, 1941, please write for full information on the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, Room No. 5, Jefferson Building, 101 East High Street, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101.

We are also attempting to build a National Archive and ask if you would please send a "Marked Copy" of your newspaper with the printed "Announcement", to our National Headquarters Office of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Assn. for our members to see and for public viewing at our National Convention. I truly beg your indulgence in this matter and thank you for any help you can give to us in finding our friends through your newspapers assistance.

Answer: It is anticipated that after July 1, 1964, all 18 year old registrants will be forwarded for a physical examination, who are not otherwise deferred, as soon as possible thereafter.

Question: If I am away from home at the time I should register, should I inform my local board that I will register as soon as I return to my hometown?

Answer: If you are away from the local board of your residential jurisdiction at the time you should register, you should go to the board nearest you and register, giving your permanent home address.

Question: Just recently I completed my classification questionnaire, how soon will I know what my classification will be?

Answer: In most instances a registrant is informed of his classification within 30 days by the local board.

Question: I have been called to go for a physical examination. I need to know how long I will be gone since my job is one that requires very regular hours and as I may not pass the examination I want to keep my job as long as possible.

Answer: The examination normally should not require you to be absent from your work more than 2 days.

Two $10,000 Loans Given To Homes For Elderly

The State Nursing Home and Personal Care Home Loan Fund Board has approved a pair of $10,000 loans to two recently-completed homes for the elderly in Owensboro and Lexington.

Kentucky Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell, chairman of the group, said the first check was presented to Robert E. Gipe, also representing Robert E. Watson, co-owners of the Parkview Rest Home, Owensboro. Gipe is proprietor of a sporting goods store at Owensboro and Watson, a former All-American basketball star with the University of Kentucky, is basketball coach at Owensboro Senior High School.

The second check was granted to Mrs. M. B. McGregor in behalf of her husband, owner of Rose Manor in Lexington.

The loans are the first to be extended under a program begun by former Governor Bert Combs and continued by Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

They are designed to encourage the construction of modern facilities for the housing of the aged.

"These first two loans for homes for the elderly signal the dawn of a new and better day for the senior members of our Kentucky population," Powell said.

The loans are for 10 years and carry an interest rate of 3 per cent per year. Members of the Home Loan Fund Board are Powell, Finance Commissioner L. Felix Joyner, Russell E. Teague, M. D., Commissioner of Health; Harold L. McPheeter.
